Important Notice Regarding Pennsylvania Peaches

We would like to provide an early update regarding Pennsylvania peach availability this season. A late frost during the initial bloom significantly impacted the Pennsylvania Peach crop this year. Current projections indicate that as little as 10% of a typical harvest will be available.

Please know we are working to maintain consistent supply wherever possible by tapping into the regional farm relationships that we have developed over nearly 50 years. That said, availability will still be severely limited.

We encourage you to consider building feature and display activity around alternate fruit options to help maintain overall volume. The outlook for cherries and other stone fruits is strong, with a promising and abundant season expected.

Please reach out to your BRP representative with any questions or support planning your summer features. Thank you.
