Frozen at Sea for Optimal Freshness

Alaskan Cod Refresh

Exclusively long line caught in the Bering Sea, off the coast of Alaska, this product of the USA is bled, headed, gutted, and frozen on the boat within hours of being caught. Each fish is frozen at the peak of freshness.

With cold storage below decks, the fish remains in a temperature-controlled environment until it arrives at Great Eastern's facility in Boston.

Once there, the fish remains in cold storage until it is thawed, cut and immediately shipped to Black River Produce's FDA inspected HACCP approved facility.

From there, the cod is loaded in temperature regulated Black River Produce trucks and delivered to restaurants and retail seafood departments in a ready-to-cook state.

Not frozen fillets, but previously frozen fillets, translates to a much better shelf life. Fish that is arguably fresher than fresh!

- Msc Certified Sustainable Pacific Cod
- Exclusively lone-line caught
- Block frozen on vessel for maximum freshness.
