Where our story began . . .

Connecting area chefs with fresh local produce was where it all began for us back in 1978. Today we have an established network of hundreds of organic and conventional farms in New England and beyond to bring you the freshest and best produce year-round.

Produce.

It's in our name for a reason.

A passion for fresh fruits & vegetables has driven our mission from the start. Mother nature has not made it easy on produce farmers in recent times. In order to ensure that Black River Produce delivers only the finest and freshest produce to you, we have revamped our QA and purchasing processes over the past year to better mitigate the quality issues that come with today's environment. We understand that in the fast-paced world of retail and food service, you need your orders to be 100% every-single time. With that goal in mind, we have bolstered our multi-step QA and purchasing process to include:

1. A Dedicated QA Produce Specialist on the Dock
   This critical member of our QA team is on the docks checking the quality on nearly every inbound produce load. This allows us to catch any major quality issues coming in our door so that a sub-par product never makes its way to your door.

2. Pre-pack Team — Focus on Quality
   Our pre-pack crew has been trained to be laser-focused on weeding out any produce items that are not 100%. The team has a clear-cut goal of never having a box go out the door if it has a quality issue.

3. Daily Inspections of Warehouse Pick-Slots
   Our crew inspects produce pick-slots daily. Any quality issues they find in house are flagged and dealt with immediately.

4. Direct Buys
   Working directly with local farms is in our DNA. In addition, we continue to strengthen our direct relationships with our California growers on field and row crops, berries and citrus. In the last year, we have echoed this direct approach with other regions in a number of categories. This includes Mexican limes, domestic and imported grapes, Spanish garlic and Canadian hothouse tomatoes, colored peppers, cucumbers, etc. Direct buys help us optimize quality and pricing and pass those savings on to you.

5. Highly Specialized Produce Buyers
   Our Produce buying team is focused solely on produce; they are not distracted by other categories and are able to build on long-standing relationships. Combined, our produce buying specialists bring extensive industry experience to the table.

Local Focus

Your Access to Local and Beyond

As the seasons change, our offerings do as well. Our highly specialized produce buyers are always the first to know when fresh ramps and fiddleheads pop up in the spring, and when Pennsylvania peaches and late harvest strawberries are at their peak of flavor. Our team specializes in sourcing conventional and organic produce, from seasonal favorites to hard-to-find specialty items from local and beyond.
